Not exactly. We are going to make a current CHE member the Chairman. He has already been confirmed by the Senate for an At-Large seat. Would the new chairman, having already been confirmed, need to be appointed again to the outgoing Chairman's seat (and corresponding term) and go through Senate confirmation again, or could we simply designate the current CHE member as Chairman and appoint a new person to serve the duration of the resigning Chairman's term?

The commission on higher education is a 15 member commission. The chairman is a unique seat of the 15. Is this what you are asking?

59-103-10

(4) One at-large member to serve as chairman appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. This member must be appointed for a term of four years and may be reappointed for one additional term; however, he may serve only one term as chairman.
