

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Message threads

Record ID: 20170618unknownMessage-threads52748_t_10155433677293166

Just check with each park directly.

Participants: Clint Belue, South Carolina State Parks
at 1:26:08 on 6/18/2017 UTC

South Carolina State Parks

at 0:29:21 on 6/18/2017 UTC

Thanks for messaging us. We will get back to you as soon as possible. In the meantime, make sure to visit our website at www.SouthCarolinaParks.com for up-to-date information.

Clint Belue

at 0:29:21 on 6/18/2017 UTC

Why is there a minimum stay of two nights required at each state park campground? I was planning to make a road trip and visit several state parks but i don't want to stay two nights at every single one. We have done some camping and so far South Carolina state parks is the only one that I've personally run into that requires a two nights stay. I had to travel to a doctor appointment in Charlotte last week and thought it would be nice to make an overnight trip visiting King Mountain State Park but I was just going to be there one night. I didn't even bother calling to reserve because I knew they would tell me I had to reserve for two nights and I didn't want to pay for a night that I knew I wouldn't be there. Thanks in advance for any explanations.

South Carolina State Parks

at 0:32:26 on 6/18/2017 UTC

If you contact the parks directly, often they will drop the two night stay restriction if they have availability. Telephone numbers can be found at www.SouthCarolinaParks.com

Clint Belue

at 1:25:24 on 6/18/2017 UTC

Ok thanks. Last month Sesquicentennial State Park had plenty of spots available and made me pay for an extra night even though I told them that I wouldn't be there the second night. I went ahead and paid for the second night just so I could camp there for one night. It was on a Monday night so it wasn't like a weekend night. The guy said he was sorry but the rules were two nights minimum.

South Carolina State Parks

at 1:26:08 on 6/18/2017 UTC

Just check with each park directly.

Clint Belue

at 21:09:44 on 1/13/2020 UTC

Hi back during black Friday. I reserved a spot at Lake Hartwell for two nights. I am told that the policy is that they are unable to change the reservation dates because of black Friday discount was applied to the original reservation and unable to change date without having a balance due. Is this correct? Even though the campsite is already paid for and had 2 nights reservation, they are unable to change the date?

South Carolina State Parks

at 21:09:45 on 1/13/2020 UTC

Thanks for messaging us. We will get back to you as soon as possible. In the meantime, make sure to visit our website at www.SouthCarolinaParks.com for up-to-date information.

---

South Carolina State Parks

at 17:51:51 on 1/21/2020 UTC

You may contact our operations office at 803-734-0156 for more information.

---