Gov. Haley,

I know this is a very sensitive subject. The Rebel Flag that is currently flying in front of the statehouse means a lot of different things to a lot of different people. If it was just about me, it would suit me fine to see it on top of the statehouse because it makes me think about my southern heritage and my family members who fought for states rights. But... it's not just about me. I'm not the only person who lives in this state. That flag means bad things to a good many of my fellow South Carolinians. And I care about them and how they feel. It's time to put it in a museum and move on. Thanks for doing the "right thing"!

Sincerely,

Rob Seal
