

State of South Carolina

Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, museums throughout South Carolina and America provide unique educational and cultural opportunities that significantly enhance our quality of life; and

WHEREAS, museums play a vital role in preserving our state's rich history, telling stories about our past while providing insight into our future by maintaining and nurturing historical links; and

WHEREAS, South Carolina museums will celebrate International Museum Day in numerous ways, including offering free or reduced admission and special tours; and

WHEREAS, with the theme, "Museums in a Changing World," the 2012 observance of International Museum Day highlights the innovative ways museums are using the latest information and technology to speak to their varying audiences.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Nikki R. Haley, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim May 18, 2012, as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to recognize the importance of museums to our communities and to work together to preserve these valuable institutions for our enjoyment and benefit today and in the future.
