Subject: FW: SIB Lab announces competition winners

Hey,

You have any interest in looking at potential uses for SIBs at DHEC? If so, there are folks coming to town late next week who you might want to meet with just to learn more. Lemme know...

Subject: SIB Lab announces competition winners

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The Harvard Kennedy School's Social Impact Bond Technical Assistance Lab (SIB Lab) is pleased to announce the next six governments who will be receiving our technical assistance to develop pay-for-success contracts using social impact bonds (SIBs). These governments are:

- Colorado/Denver
- Connecticut
- Illinois
- New York
- Ohio
- South Carolina

They were selected in a national competition funded by The Rockefeller Foundation.

Read the full press release here. Read the story in today's Washington Post here. For further information about our work, please visit www.hks-siblab.org.
