Subject: Education Follow Up

Christian and Rachel,

Sorry to spam your office during an insanely busy week, but this time it's about education, not health care. J

I recall Gov. Haley mentioned getting the Foundation for Excellence in Education folks in front of her task force to talk about the Florida model and I wanted to reach out to you all to let you know that we have been working with Rep. Andy Patrick for the last several months to get him to bring the FEE folks up to talk with his Subcom...specifically about the K-3 Reading bill, but he would like them to talk much more broadly as well about the Florida model. It looks like that may well happen on the morning of May 29th and will be open to anyone in the GA who wants to attend.

My question for y'all: I know the Gov mentioned having the FEE folks talk w/ her task force. Don't recall who all that would include...know there were some legislators and would want to be careful not to take away from what Andy is doing...but I wondered if y'all thought it might make sense to try to set up a meeting with Task Force members (or whoever the Gov. might want) to talk with the Florida folks that afternoon while they're here. If that isn't a good option for y'all, I know they'd at least love a chance to come by and talk with you all about how they could be supportive of the Governor's efforts in education going forward...

Thoughts?
