

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20140210South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10152198751043166

South Carolina State Parks

at 19:00:01 on 2/10/2014 UTC · 🌐

The puma is considered a small cat because they do not have the ability to roar. The puma makes many other noises such as a chirp, growl, hiss and purr. In fact, the puma is more closely related to the domestic cat than to the lion. Even so, the puma is a formidable predator and can kill and drag prey up to seven times its own weight. Come out to the Charles Towne Landing Animal Forest to see our resident puma!

Ryan Dilla Small cat until it rips my face off!

at 19:21:54 on 2/10/2014 UTC

Fred Tiger Gerald Do we have them in SC?

at 19:23:56 on 2/10/2014 UTC

Toni Cato-Steger Here Kitty Kitty :)

at 19:36:43 on 2/10/2014 UTC

Jim Montgomery Charles Towne Landing is in SC...

at 19:46:08 on 2/10/2014 UTC

Shawn Moss Wofford Glad to know they are still around

at 23:21:15 on 2/10/2014 UTC

Arlon DeLorge A puma is one of the cats i like.

at 0:46:37 on 2/11/2014 UTC

Danny Robbins This cat is in captivity. Yes, they are in SC....DNR won't admit it though.

at 1:53:00 on 2/11/2014 UTC

Dottie Austin Hammond Beautiful animal

at 3:15:29 on 2/11/2014 UTC