South Carolina State Parks

at 18:43:08 on 4/11/2012 UTC · 🌐

Just one of our reptilian friends you may spot at Aiken State Park during our reptile program. This coral snake was crossing the parking lot just a few days ago. For more program info:

Mary Kuhn Bernsdorff One of our few piosonous snakes - but so easy to identify. Also - it has such a small mouth it really cannot bite you unless it gets you between the fingers or toes. A great little snake.

Vikki Perry hmmm...I realize snakes are a valuable part of the eco system, but ick.

at 18:51:39 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Kat Vorhauer only a dead snake is a good snake!

at 18:58:35 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Michael Shelly-Moody Had no idea we had coral snakes here, Used to see them all the time in Daytona/Ormond Beachs, FL

Neal Sarvis Wow! Such a rare site! Would have loved to have been there to see it! People really need to become better educated about snakes.

at 19:11:43 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Kathy Turner Mabry I have a rule about snakes, I don't bother you in your habitat but don't come into mine.

Cynthia G Hayes That is a beautiful snake, just don't get to close

at 19:44:49 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Kristina Fallon danger, danger, danger...

at 19:56:06 on 4/11/2012 UTC

John Nichols ...sorry Mary that's venomous...not poisonous...there are no poisonous snakes.

at 20:04:38 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Rachael Ann Para Well, We just need to be educated and stay out of its way. No need to kill or mane it.....

at 20:20:10 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Martin Streett Coral snakes are so cool.

at 20:52:58 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Christina Bridwell Saw a rattle snake a few weeks ago on Raven Cliff falls trail . Never bothered us a bit

at 21:07:49 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Anastasia Shaw Beautiful!

at 22:51:58 on 4/11/2012 UTC

Robbie Pitts Bellamy OUCH!

at 0:02:45 on 4/12/2012 UTC

Dale Reith You can hurt yourself running from a nonpoisonous snake as one that is lethal.

at 0:09:42 on 4/12/2012 UTC

Shianne Reith They are common in Tx

Bill McKay Kill the sucker!!!

at 1:34:21 on 4/12/2012 UTC

Georgette P Sibbio Any snake that can make you sick or kill you is poisonous or venomous is still bad news.

at 12:19:37 on 4/12/2012 UTC

Carrie Greaves I was just watching a program last night that the anti venom forthis snake is in low supply and what they have is actually expiring. What they do have left could cost upwards of 15K.

Tony Hernandez Photography There is an old rhyme that will let you know this snake is poisonous - yellow and red equal dead. If red and yellow touch its venomous. If your wearing close toed shoes with long pants, its not really likely that you would be hurt by a corral snake. More people die from insect stings than from poisonous snakes. Enjoy the great out doors and leave the snakes along and they will likely leave you along (cotton mouth being on exception).

Michael Happ sorry...but for me; all poisonous ones get be headed on sight.
