

From: Danny Varat <DannyVarat@scstatehouse.gov>
To: Stephanie Crettescrette@clemson.edu
Date: 8/31/2017 12:04:33 PM
Subject: Re: Hunley Commission

Thanks

From: Stephanie Crette
Sent: Thursday, August 31, 2017 11:35 AM
To: Danny Varat
Subject: RE: Hunley Commission

Yes this is part of it

Director Warren Lasch Conservation Center
Clemson University Restoration Institute
North Charleston SC

----- Original message -----

From: Danny Varat
Date: 08/31/2017 11:10 (GMT-05:00)
To: Stephanie Crette
Subject: Re: Hunley Commission

Thanks very much. Is this the study discussed in today's P&C article?

From: Stephanie Crette
Sent: Thursday, August 31, 2017 10:59 AM
To: Danny Varat
Subject: RE: Hunley Commission

Hello Danny,

The Navy has submitted it for publication in 2016. To this day, it is still pending publication. Meanwhile you can find some of the study online at :

<https://www.history.navy.mil/research/underwater-archaeology/sites-and-projects/ship-wrecksites/hl-hunley/hunley-incident-analysis.html>

Hope this clarifies your question,

Best Regards,

Stephanie

Stéphanie A. Cretté, PhD
Director of the Warren Lasch Conservation Center
at Clemson University Restoration Institute
Research Professor – MS&E

Adjunct Professor - MSHP
1250 Supply Street
North Charleston, SC 29405
843-730-5093 (direct line)

www.clemson.edu/wlcc

I review for
The Journal of Supercritical Fluids

ELSEVIER

From: Danny Varat [mailto:DannyVarat@scstatehouse.gov]
Sent: Thursday, August 31, 2017 10:55 AM
To: Stephanie Crette
Subject: Hunley Commission

Stephanie, I'm Danny Varat, and I'm a recent addition to the Hunley Commission. Gene Hogan updated me with some past project updates, and I have a question. I see in the May 2016 notes that they planned to publish the explosion simulation study later that Fall, but there's not mention of it in the 2017 minutes. Did that happen?

I appreciate your help, and I hope to come visit soon.

Danny Varat