How WILD is this? Goes to prove all creatures need saltwater therapy every now & then! This video was captured this morning at Huntington Beach State Park by Kaley Nevin with South Carolina Department of Natural Resources. We think the beaver was probably trying to escape a predator, like an alligator, which are very prominent at Huntington Beach State Park. #WildlifeWednesday www.southcarolinaparks.com/huntington-beach

Dena Leonard Jordan Colton Traynham I saw him between the day access and south campground headed south towards Lichfield! He may have come on the beach at north campground or farther up to the jetty. I talked with another lady who saw him at the day access point.
