Subject: check in before tomorrow

Do you have everything you need for tomorrow? Do we need a quick call today to go over the things below? We may be able to cover it via e-mail.

- I have you both on the agenda for the Welcome and Closing/Next Steps. However, if one of you could take the lead moving us through the agenda items, that will help things run smoothly.
- I spoke with Bryan Cordell, Executive Director of the Sustainability Institute, last week and he is ready to go with his part – sticking to 5 minutes and talking about what they are doing relative to a statewide strategy for energy efficiency rating programs. The SC Energy Office has been working with them, so this will not be news to them.
- Ashlie Lancaster with the SC Energy Office will be there via phone. Trish Jerman is coming in person in her place. Reid Hipp is also going to try to dial in from the Aspen seminar.
- I will be your note taker.

Subject: Residential Energy Efficiency Mtg - agenda and parking instructions

Good morning,

This is a reminder of our meeting this Tuesday at Nexsen Pruet in Columbia to discuss funding for energy efficiency upgrades for low income homeowners. Our presenters are with Deutsche Bank and The Mark Group – Jamie Rantanen and Jeff Bartos. Also presenting to the group will be Jeffrey King with the Clean Economy Center. These three will be attending via video conference from Philadelphia. Attached is the meeting agenda, and below are the logistics.
