South Carolina State Parks

at 19:00:00 on 9/20/2016 UTC · 🌐

Did anyone get outside to a SC State Park and observe the full moon over the weekend? Fear not! Even though the moon is waning (losing size) it still is quite impressive! Does anyone know the term for the moon as it "grows" and becomes fuller? Photo cred: Our very own Ranger Ashby Gale!

Deanna Anderson In the best way....my friend and I slept on the fishing pier at Myrtle Beach State Park as part of their Camping Ex-PIER-ience. I watched the moon come up over the ocean and I read a paperback book by it's light as the ocean waves lulled me to sleep.

Deanna Anderson 11 is the age they take, and I do recommend it. The people who wouldnt go with me this year regretted their decision and said they are going next year.

Dawn Watson Weaver That's so very beautiful! I took a photo of clouds with the waxing moon as I left the office. Can't get it to post properly!

Anita White Green We used to sleep on Sunset pier all the time. I didn't know you could still do that.

Ce Edge Last night the moon looked like it was getting eaten by a large pacman Deanna Anderson Anita White Green it's part of a program Myrtle Beach State Park does once a year. Had to sign up and pay for it.

Belle Boone Gibbous is anything from half to full. It can be a waxing Gibbous or waning gibbous. Crescent is anything between half and new. Also can be waxing or waning.
