scstateparks (5/16) Edisto Beach State Park, rich in Native American History, is one of four oceanfront state parks and one of sixteen state parks built by the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC). - While visiting Edisto, learn about the ACE Basin or go walk along the 1.5-mile, palmetto-lined beach famed for its shelling, sunrises and historic fossils. 🌅 The park is also home to the state's longest system wheelchair-accessible hiking and biking trails. 🚶🚲 @defflores stu_live20 I camped at Edisto State Park many years ago with a friend. One day we went for a hike through the woods and found a remote spot of oyster shells that were piled up and bleached white with age surrounded by undisturbed dirt as if it had been there a really long time. Too far from the campground, could this been an ancient oyster shell mound left behind by the Edisto indigenous people?! 🤔🐚
