bcmitchellart How about reopening since your rangers are still there and spend all day telling people it's closed. Dumb move.

 pennysintheback Stunning, makes me miss it even more. I can't wait for them to reopen (but of course I will for safety's sake) ryanlgallagher @joegrunt he never closed them to begin with, they did.

at 22:54:29 on 4/21/2020 UTC

joegrunt @ryanlgallagher Not quite as simple. Dept of parks, Rec and tourism closed in response to vivid-19 under guidance from public health advisors to Gov McMaster. So, yes - he can open them as he has opened beaches which were closed similarly to how the parks were closed... which was the basis for my comment. Not who closed them.

joegrunt Covid-19*

 ryanlgallagher @joegrunt understood.. yea outdoors is important.. even the sherrifs department i complained to acknowledged that these closures would cause an increase in domestic dispute calls in my county so.. i have been really not a fan of the decision for quite a while.

joegrunt @ryanlgallagher There's a lot I don't agree with and understand about this. I'm woefully underqualified underqualified to have an educated opinion on it other than my gut feeling. But man - when the AT has all but closed, it stung. Then SC parks and all of my local trails closed. So here I sit. Me and the kids. Playing in the yard. Could be worse. Could be better.

 ryanlgallagher @joegrunt i have trails across the street that are barricaded.. i dont have a yard and i would say an okay neighborhood but not ideal for walking.. so yea its been hard.. i've made it to some palmetto trail trailheads occasionally but some of the good, less traveled ones are a long haul to get to. But yea it can always be worse. We obviously had to do something to combat this virus.. I just don't like when overreacting policies create unnecessary self inflicted wounds. I only speak for myself, but im ~~im~~ sure im not close enough to other people to transmit or catch a disease in a park. Maybe other folks arent so intelligent about it idk.

 ryanlgallagher @joegrunt There are many states which have successfully not closed their parks. So yea i continue to be disappointed in this state for that.
at 11:24:15 on 4/22/2020 UTC

joegrunt @ryangallagher totally agree with both of your comments.

wrcollum They should be going around to the parks and fixing what was broke and cut some tree down
