Subject: Pew Home Visiting Summit

John & Christian,
Pew hosts an annual conference on Home Visiting and they invited Jeff to speak at the upcoming event in January. Jeff can't attend due to his teaching schedule so he suggested I present instead. The panel is on the opportunity to use PFS to finance home visiting (See description below). I wanted to confirm this would be OK with you both. Once I have a presentation ready, it would be great to get your feedback, as well as discuss any information that would be OK to share regarding SC's project.

Thanks!
Erica

Panel Description:

We will describe the promise and challenges of using the pay for success/social impact bond model for home visiting including: how the financing model can help bring together a diverse set of community actors to enable an expansion of services and how to overcome barriers such as evaluating impacts, sharing of risk, and accessing the federal share of savings.
