Description/Significant Features:

The Edgefield Hut has a concrete slab foundation, with a corrugated steel barrel arch forming the roof and side walls. The entire arch has been coated with spray foam insulation, but the corrugation of the metal is still discernable. The end walls are comprised of vertical wood siding. The only openings in the hut are on the end walls, in which a single door is centered on each end (see Figure 7). There is one vinyl one-over-one window to the right of the door on the north end of the hut, while the south end has a window on each side of the door. The absence of windows on the sides indicates that the most basic "warehouse configuration."
