

ONE SC

FLOOD IMPACT REPORT

Thanks to many generous donors throughout the state and nation, the One SC Fund has distributed $1,260,000 in grants to nonprofits to support their local flood recovery projects. Below is a snapshot of how these grants are impacting South Carolina's flood recovery.

The funded organizations are providing skilled volunteer labor and an additional

$7,174,000

in funding support for the projects.

Through the work of many people and organizations, progress is being made to rebuild our state. However, an estimated 28,000 individuals were impacted by the flood. The need is still great. Donations to the One SC Fund are still being accepted and will help continue the work of serving those impacted by the flood. To donate, visit www.onescfund.org.

A RESIDENT SMILES WHILE VOLUNTEERS FROM HOME WORKS OF AMERICA REBUILD HER HOUSE.

Helping Miss Emma

Miss Emma lives in Salters, which is about 20 miles Northwest of Mennonite Disaster Services's (MDS) project site in Andrews, South Carolina. She is a single woman who has resided in a well-maintained mobile home for about 35 years. The October hurricane damaged the metal that provided a roof over her home and caused some minor leakage. MDS determined that the metal roof was unrepairable and should be replaced with a framed shingle roof. Through a grant made available to Mennonite Disaster Service from the One SC Fund distributed by Central Carolina Community Foundation, the project was funded for approximately $2,700. It was completed in two days by five MDS volunteers for a grateful home owner. For lunch on the second day Miss Emma treated them to a meal of pork ribs, rice, mac and cheese, fried chicken, green beans, and cake. She said she will never forget the worker's generosity.
