Good Afternoon! My husband and I are planning a trip to one of the state parks where we can bring our mentality handicapped daughter to see the little turtles when they hatch. We don't have much knowledge on the turtles and could you tell us where and when that might be a good time. Thank you! Jeri

It is almost impossible to give you a date or a time. We never know exactly when a nest will hatch. I would encourage you to contact the nature centers at either Edisto Beach State Park or Hunting Island State Park to see if they let people join them when they do nest inventories. Edisto Interpretive Center: 843-869-4426 or Hunting Island Nature Center (843) 838-7437
