Webinar: State Strategies for Integrating Health Care and Housing for Homeless Individuals and Families

Join us today at 12:30 (ET) for a webinar on integrating health care and housing for the homeless. States interested in improving population health and containing costs are increasingly examining the intersection of housing and health care. As numerous studies show, housing chronically homeless people can improve their health and save money for state and local governments. This webinar will offer participants an opportunity to learn about cross-agency levers states can use to meet the housing and health needs of homeless populations. The webinar will also address the financing mechanisms, data infrastructure and strategic partnerships that facilitate the blending of health care and housing funding streams.
