The National Alzheimer's and Dementia Resource Center will present the webinar— Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) Geriatric Workforce Enhancement Program: Preparing a Dementia Capable Workforce—on June 22, 2016. Participants who attend this webinar will learn about HRSA's efforts to develop a dementia capable workforce, which includes:

- 1) identifying ways for efficient dementia case finding,
- 2) learning about lifestyle interventions for persons living with dementia,
- 3) developing effective communication strategies across all levels of care, and
- 4) learning about interprofessional health care teams that include community service partners.

The presenters for this webinar are John Morley, MB, BCh and Erin E. Emery-Tiburcio, Ph.D., ABPP who are both directors of Geriatric Workforce Enhancement Programs in St. Louis and Illinois respectively. Their bios appear below.

Presenter Bios:

John E. Morley, MB, BCh, is the Dammert Professor of Gerontology and Director of the Division of Geriatric Medicine as well as the Director of the Division of Endocrinology at Saint Louis University Medical Center. He also serves as Medical Director for two nursing homes. Dr. Morley earned a medical degree at the University of Witwatersrand, in Johannesburg, South Africa. After an internal medicine residency in Johannesburg, he completed a fellowship in endocrinology at the University of California, Los Angeles.

He has edited more than 20 books, and published more than 1300 papers, with major research emphases on the role of neuropeptides in the modulation of hormonal responses and behavior and on nutrition and hormones in the elderly. He serves as Editor of Journal of the American Medical Directors Association.

Dr. Erin Emery-Tiburcio is an Associate Professor of Geriatric and Rehabilitation Psychology at Rush University Medical Center. She completed her Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology at Bowling Green State University, residency at Harvard Medical School/VA Boston and her fellowship in Clinical Geropsychology at Long Island Jewish Medical Center. She is past-President of the Society for Clinical Geropsychology within the American Psychological Association, where she developed GeroCentral.org, a clearinghouse for geriatric mental health resources. She currently serves as a member of the American Psychological Association's Committee on Aging, and is the chair of the trans-organizational Post-licensure and e-learning Committee for both the Society for Clinical Geropsychology and the Council of Professional Geropsychology Training Programs (CoPGTP). Dr. Emery-Tiburcio is the Co-PI of the Geriatric Workforce Enhancement Program of Illinois based at Rush University Medical Center, where she is developing multiple educational programs for all levels of professionals who work with older adults, as well as partnering with primary care clinics across the state to transform care for older adults with multiple chronic conditions (www.catch-on.org).

We hope you will join us for this informative webinar. The webinar will be recorded for those who are unable to attend.

These Technical Assistance Webinars are used to provide helpful, current and applicable information for grantees and partners of ADSSP and ADI-SSS projects.
