Subject: Lions and bats and more This Week at Interior

---

Dear Friend,

This week, a new public-private partnership between Interior, The North Face, and the band My Morning Jacket, to benefit the next generation of outdoor stewards; Secretary Jewell addresses the National Congress of American Indians in Atlanta; the Secretary also visits the Choctaw elementary and high schools in Mississippi to continue the discussion about transforming Indian education; the Fish and Wildlife Service proposes Endangered Species Act protection for the African lion; USGS scientists say bats face a threatening future from disease; the Bureau of Reclamation makes a fossil find in Idaho that dates back 70,000 years; and the National Park Service unveils 81 energy and water conservation projects in the greater Washington DC area.
