Description/Significant Features:

The single-story masonry Period Cottage is four bays wide and is clad in brick. A recessed porch framing a set of paired windows composes the building's eastern-most bay. A pedimented gable sits atop the side-gabled roof and holds original four-over-four sash. A battered stone chimney embraces is centrally placed on the buildings facade, and a second interior brick chimney stack can be seen rising from the building's ridge line. Extending from the building's western elevation is a screened-in-porch addition.
