South Carolina State Parks

at 19:00:01 on 10/27/2014 UTC

Chester State Park's pumpkin depicts the original Chester State Park sign now displayed in their ranger station. This is the top half of the original entry sign that was taken down during the 1960's. Park staff found this part of the original sign screwed to the wall patching a hole in the tractor shed. The sign has been put on display in the new ranger station to create a link to the past, and a reminder of the legacy we are entrusted with carrying on.

Spring Slagle Love it!
