Ms. Forkner:

Im an incarcerated inmate in the South Carolina Prison System that is about to be released. Ive been incarcerated for a while now and once released Im going to need some assistance until I can be fully situated and provide for myself. I would appreciate it if you would send me Food Stamp/EBT Information and Application and Financial Independence Application (DSS Form 3800 caue08) and Your Rights and Responsibilities. I also would like the Emergency Charitable Assistance Programs listing and DSS Brochure 24126 (Dec08). I would like to take the time to sincerely thank you for your time and patience concerning this matter.

Dear Mr. McCrorey:

Thank you for writing our agency regarding information on South Carolina programs that can assist you following the completion of your incarceration.

The Department of Health and Human Services administers Medicaid, which is a healthcare program. While Medicaid does not provide financial assistance to pay for food, housing, utility bills or other living expenses, we have included a list of state agencies that may be of help to you. You may also wish to contact charitable or non-profit organizations in the South Carolina County where you intend to reside.

The Food Stamp program is administered by the State Department of Social Services. We have enclosed an overview of the Food Stamp Program and an application. If you have questions about eligibility or the application process, please contact them toll free at 1-800-768-5700.

We have also enclosed information on the programs you requested. We hope this information is helpful.

Sincerely,

Alicia Jacobs
Deputy Director
