Meeting with Ellen Kullman, Chair of the Board & Chief Executive Officer of DuPont

Ellen J. Kullman
Chair of the Board & Chief Executive Officer

Ellen Kullman, 55, is chair of the board and chief executive officer of DuPont. She is the 19th executive to lead the company in more than 208 years of DuPont history.

Ellen became CEO on Jan.1, 2009, and chair of the board on Dec. 31 that year. She was president from Oct. 1 through Dec. 31, 2008. Prior to that, she served as executive vice president and a member of the company's office of the chief executive.

As CEO, Ellen has championed market-driven science to drive innovation across the company's businesses. Under her leadership, decision making has moved closer to customers around the world, resulting in greater partnering, collaboration, and solutions attuned to local needs.

A native of Wilmington, Del., Ellen began her career at DuPont in 1988 as a marketing manager. She served as business director for several businesses including White Pigment & Mineral Products where she became vice president and general manager in 1995. She assumed leadership of two high-growth businesses, DuPont Safety Resources in 1998 and Bio-Based Materials in 1999. She was named group vice president - DuPont Safety & Protection in 2002. In 2006, she was named executive vice president with responsibility for three business platforms and several functions including Marketing & Sales. In 2008, she was tapped to lead the company's focus on growth in emerging international markets.

She is a member of the U.S.-India CEO Forum, the Business Council, and the executive committee of SCI-America. She is co-chair of the National Academy of Engineering Committee on Changing the Conversation: From Research to Action.

Ellen is a member of the board of directors of United Technologies Corp. She also is on the board of trustees of Tufts University and serves on the board of overseers at Tufts University School of Engineering.

Prior to joining DuPont, Ellen worked for General Electric. She holds a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from Tufts University and a masters degree in management from Northwestern University.

BACKGROUND:

*This is DuPont's largest investment in the world in the company's history.

* In July, DuPont marked 209th year in operation. Our founder, E.I. duPont de Nemours, was an immigrant French chemist who was encouraged to enter the gunpowder business by none other than Thomas Jefferson -- it was Jefferson who realized the newly formed United States would need its own gunpowder production businesses, and not be reliant on its defense to foreign interests.

* The U.S. government was DuPont's first customer. Over the next two centuries, science and constant innovation have been DuPont's keys to continued success -- from explosives, to chemicals, textiles and advanced fibers (such as Kevlar).

* And in our 3rd century, we're continuing to make significant advances in biotechnology -- including advances in materials to reducing reliance on petroleum-based products; improving our ability to feed and protect a growing global population; and advances in biofuel production.

Cooper River Message Platform – 9/30/11

Core Message Level 1	DuPont has announced the start up of its $500 million Cooper River Kevlar Charleston, S.C. DuPont is a company built on innovation and supports its stakeholders with continued investments in Kevlar® products. The Cooper latest step in our commitment to provide materials that protect more people from hazards around the world.
Supporting Message Level 2	Globally the initial production capacity for Kevlar® will increase by 25 percent to grow by 40 percent, with planned productivity improvements and continued developments over the next two years. The new capacity will allow DuPont to serve customers with next-generation Kevlar® products that improve their ability in various applications.
Proof Points Level 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Cooper River plant uses state of the art technology that allows DuPont to serve growing industries around the world by expanding product lines and increasing capacity. • It also will increase U.S. industrial capabilities critical for advanced manufacturing, the sustainment of a skilled workforce, and national security. • Along with the recent $50M investment at its Spruance plant in Richmond, Virginia, the Cooper River investment represents the largest single investment in Kevlar® capacity increase since the fiber was introduced in 1965.
Supporting Message Level 2	DuPont's investment in the Cooper River plant will support job creation, industrial development and a growing global economy.
Proof Points Level 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Cooper River Kevlar® plant has created 135 jobs and was built over 18 months using a construction workforce of up to 800. • The Cooper River Kevlar® plant will initially make products that support key technology platforms: DuPont™ Kevlar® AP, DuPont™ Kevlar® KM2 P and DuPont™ Kevlar® XP™ for growing applications in ballistics, other personal protective equipment, aerospace, tires, fiber optic cables, oil and gas and automotive. • DuPont has R&D facilities and customer applications centers for Kevlar® in Shanghai, China; Hyderabad, India; Paulina, Brazil; Meyrin, Switzerland and Wilmington, Del. • In 2010, DuPont overall spent $1.7 billion on R&D, funding advanced research, product development and process improvements. As we develop next generation materials, foster innovation and forge new research partnerships, we are dedicated to shaping the future of protective technologies.
Supporting Message Level 2	The Cooper River plant expansion is just one example of how DuPont continues to work with customers and partners to protect people and the environment in their communities.

Proof Points Level 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • DuPont works collaboratively with customers around the world to develop new protective technologies with Kevlar® such as Goodyear tires, Ansell cut-resistant body armor. • Best known for its use in ballistic and stab-resistant body armor, Kevlar® has saved the lives of thousands of law enforcement and military personnel around the world. It is also used in a wide range of vehicle armor to the U.S. military.

BACKGROUND:

Capital investment: $500 million

Job total: 1,700 over 10 years; includes 80 new jobs at the company HQ in Fort Mill (Lancaster County).

First phase: brings the plant's production capacity to 5 million tires per year by 2017

Second phase: brings the plant's production capacity to 8 million tires per year by 2021

Plant: Site covers 330 acres; building is planned to be in excess of 1 million square feet.

Construction to begin in mid-2012.

Tires: Will be produced under both the Continental and General brands. Will produce for both replacement tire market and automakers.

South Carolina operations:

- Operation in SC called Continental Tire the Americas LLC. It is the HQ for Continental tires in the Americas – including Mexico and Brazil.
- The HQ moved to MacMillan Business Park in Fort Mill (Lancaster County) from Charlotte. The move was announced in Feb. 2008 and completed in early 2009.
- At the time of the move, the op was called Continental Tire North America, but name changed in 2010 because of company growth in South America.

- Continental also used to have production in Charlotte.
- Announced investment in 2008 was $11 million for land and the new 75,000-sq-ft facility. The HQs has about 375 employees.
- Continental used to have ops in Blythewood and Columbia that now house Pure Power Technologies.
- Continental in Fort Mill has donated "$35,000 to the Lancaster County schools. In addition, the company has given 350 tires to the county for use in its police, fire and municipal vehicles. Altogether, the donations are valued at nearly $100,000." (May 2010)

Also of note:

Schaeffler Group, which has several operations in S.C., owns a chunk of Continental AG. As of March 2011, Schaeffler held 60.3% of Continental . Maria-Elisabeth Schaeffler is on the Supervisory Board of Continental AG.

More about the company:

Continental Tire the Americas, LLC (CTA, formerly Continental General Tire) is a subsidiary of Continental AG. CTA acquired General Tire in 1987.

CTA employs 9,000 employees. Continental Tire has six locations throughout the Americas:

- Fort Mill, SC; Mount Vernon, IL; Mississauga, ON; San Luis Potosi, Mexico; Camacari, Brazil; Quito, Ecuador

These manufacturing plants produce one-third of the Continental Corporation's total passenger and commercial tires. Continental is a major supplier to the original equipment and replacement tire markets, selling Continental, General, Euzkadi and private brands in NAFTA. Sales in North America include:

- Passenger, Original Equipment 25%
- Passenger, Replacement Business 34%
- Private Brands 5%
- Truck Tires 29%
- Farm and Earthmover Tires 5%
- Other 2%

CTA supplies passenger car tires to original equipment customers that include BMW, Ford, General Motors, Mercedes-Benz, Nissan, Toyota and Volkswagen. Commercial vehicle tires are delivered to Caterpillar, John Deere, Freightliner, International, Ford, Mack and Volvo.
