

WHAT DOES HORRY COUNTY REALLY WANT?

Horry County wants quality education.

We believe that strengthening the existing institutions of higher education in South Carolina should have priority over the creation of additional senior colleges.

We believe in careful planning that will provide the best education that can be bought with the funds available.

We believe that more funds ought to be committed to this purpose.

Horry County wants quantity education.

We believe that South Carolina and Horry County will be best served by educating more students.

We believe that the dropout rate between high school and college is too high and that much more than is presently being done about this tragic loss can be attempted.

We believe that there should be intensive study of the reasons college students fail to continue to graduation.

We believe that more students from the Pee Dee will attend college when a senior institution is made available to them.

Horry County is ready to do something about it.

We have laid the necessary foundations in academic standards, physical plant, and financial resources.

We have shown that the logic of location, growth potential, community support and achievement favors the designation of Coastal Carolina as the state's next senior institution.
