Alligators are one of the biggest attractions at Huntington Beach State Park. You can often see them as you drive over the causeway, when you enter the park. For the best viewing experience, however, join one of the bi-weekly guided alligator walks, offered every Tuesday and Thursday at 10 a.m. by the Friends of Huntington Beach State Park. No reservations needed: just meet near the entrance of Atalaya!

Amy White Craig What is the status of a new nature center at Huntington Beach State Park? We were camping there last July when it burned down. It was so sad.
