

cWj

February 1, 2016

The Honorable Nikki R. Haley
Office of the Governor
1205 Pendleton Street
Columbia, South Carolina 29201

Dear Governor Haley,

Thank you for work you have done as Governor of the great state of South Carolina and your tireless work to connect the unemployed with well paying state jobs. It is for this reason that I write you today... I desperately need your help.

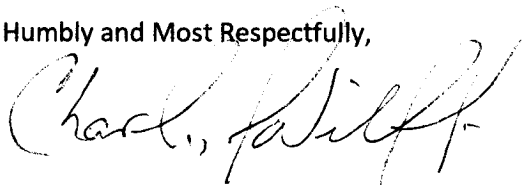

In May of last year, I suffered a stroke and I have devoted a great deal of time to recovering so that I may rejoin the workforce. Prior to that setback, I resigned my position as a public school Teacher Assistant with Charleston County Schools for changes in public education policy. Prior to becoming a teacher, I served as a Southern Baptist Pastor (an administrator, organizer, planner, writer, and speaker).

Governor, I am very capable, hard-working, competent individual with an earned research Doctorate in Education, a former Naval officer, and one of the last true Southern gentlemen that you will find. However, I have been unable to get an interview from the multitude of state jobs for which I have applied. If I may be candid, I do not feel that I am able to get beyond the computer screening process that prevents a human being accessing my abilities and providing me with the opportunity to become again a devoted public servant.

May I ask, my dear Governor and sister-in-Christ, to take a few minutes to read over my attached resume / CV to determine if you or your office can help me find a rewarding state job? Again, I have applied for numerous positions posted on the Jobs.SC.gov, but I also fear that my age is also hindering me. I need an advocate who has the power and willingness to lend me a hand so I may continue to serve society and make the world a better place to live and raise a family.

I thank you in advance for your time and consideration,

Humbly and Most Respectfully,

CHARLES J. WILLIAMS, JR., ED.D.