Stories: 1 story Porch Shape: Pedimented gable

Other: Porch Width: Entrance bay only

Description/Significant Features:

The historic core of the single-story Minimal Traditional residence stands two bays wide (likely having lost its original central bay/primary entrance). A two bay side-gabled frame addition extends from the building's eastern elevation. This addition holds the building's current entrance which is framed by a pedimented portico. Both new and old sections of the building rest on stone foundation and the entire building is clad in synthetic shingle siding. Two stone chimneys rise on the eastern gable ends of both the historic core and the eastern addition. All of the building's windows appear to be replacement.

Alterations (include date(s), if known):

eastern addition replacement doors and windows replacement exterior cladding
