The most endangered of sea turtles, the Kemp's Ridley, was accidentally hooked off the Myrtle Beach State Park pier earlier this week. It was brought up via net to the pier and park staff transported the turtle to the Sea Turtle hospital in Charleston. At the hospital the hook was removed and at last report, the turtle is doing great with a very good prognosis! Thanks to all involved in this rescue!

Shirley M. Purcell Good job. I visited the sea turtle hospital in Charleston a few months ago and was impressed by the good work they do.
