

From: Soura, Christian
To: Mayer, Doug <DougMayer@gov.sc.gov>
Date: 12/13/2013 11:52:22 AM
Subject: FW: Video: Gov. Nikki Haley issues "Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service" proclamation

---

I think this was just before you came on last year...but this is how the MLK thing was rolled out back in January. I'm wide open as to how it goes out this year...just passing this along for context/background. Thanks.

CLS

Christian L. Soura
Deputy Chief of Staff

(803) 543-0792
ChristianSoura@gov.sc.gov

---

From: Godfrey, Rob
Sent: Tuesday, January 15, 2013 12:48 PM
Subject: Video: Gov. Nikki Haley issues "Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service" proclamation

Video: Gov. Nikki Haley issues "Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service" proclamation

Haley encourages South Carolinians to serve communities during Columbia Urban League address

COLUMBIA, S.C. – Governor Nikki Haley today issued a proclamation designating Monday, January 21, 2013 as the "Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service" throughout the state of South Carolina.

The governor announced her proclamation during remarks at the Columbia Urban League's annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Legacy Breakfast and encouraged all South Carolinians to celebrate Dr. King's life and legacy by volunteering to participate in community service projects on Monday.

A copy of the governor's proclamation is attached. Video of the governor's remarks at today's breakfast is available here: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=At\_EBtqFTWk&

-###-

Rob Godfrey
Office of Gov. Nikki Haley
O: (803) 734-5074 | C: (803) 429-5086