All in a day's work! Park Tech Alex Orr (left) from Table Rock and Ranger Alex Mariona(right) from Calhoun Falls are resting after rescuing a gentleman with heat exhaustion from Pinnacle Mountain at Table Rock. This duo carried the man down in a basket 1/2 mile and then he was able to walk to the ATV to be brought down the mountain the rest of the way. To top it all off, Ranger Alex Mariona had the day off and was just volunteering! Let's hear it for this dynamic duo for a job well done!

Jennifer Pearson Actually, as a "public" employee you CAN volunteer for your employer...there are rules for doing so, but in most scenarios, there isn't any reason why you can't or shouldn't...at any rate, saving this gentleman was far more important than whether or not she was or wasn't being paid at the time.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney And as casetext is a more reliable source than your recent source, it does not have any points in the text that support your argument. It actually says "(c) Individuals shall be considered volunteers only where their services are offered freely and without pressure or coercion, direct or implied, from an employer". Which supports that she is in-fact a legal volunteer and is in no way violating any laws. Since she is volunteering by choice and is not from Table Rock.

Valli M. Finney Allen Reynolds I have posted federal FSLA law and federal court cases. I have first-hand knowledge of the case law in that when I worked for my campus paper as an associate editor back in the late 80s, the editor wrote an editorial about how we were working 40+ hours a week, but getting paid for 20. Someone from the IRS happened to be on campus and read the editorial. Well, after the campus attorneys (a state University) got involved, FSLA was involved, as was the IRS, we were compensated for past hours, and anything we worked over 20 hours, but up to 40 hours, we received college credit. Please take time to read the case files and FSLA. I will edit to show my error of he/she. I do apologize for that error.

at 12:14:59 on 5/17/2020 UTC

Ed Kinsel Valli M. Finney there is an exemption in the court case you provided that allows public employees to volunteer their time, so I guess you are still wrong.

at 12:15:20 on 5/17/2020 UTC

Tags: deleted

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney That is not volunteer work, that is overtime that which you were owed in the first place. Please check my link to the USDOL for the actual laws and regulation regarding volunteer work.

Valli M. Finney Ed Kinsel You CANNOT volunteer for the same work for which you are paid. I know you didn't have time to read the LAW, amended 1985, the case files, etc.

at 12:26:06 on 5/17/2020 UTC

Tags: deleted

Jennifer Pearson A few of the articles you've posted prove that you're wrong...she is a PUBLIC employee, not a PRIVATE employee, huge difference in the laws here...not to mention, if she is a commissioned officer she CAN act off-duty, and may feel she has a moral obligation to do so, even if she doesn't have an official volunteer agreement with her agency.

at 12:28:36 on 5/17/2020 UTC

Valli M. Finney Jennifer Pearson Why don't you read the case files? And 29 CFR to include the 1985 Amendment? We all know park techs do volunteer at their jobs in order to try to get a residence position or to climb up the chain; rangers are required to work - at times - more than 40 hours a week without OT or comp time (documented to the IG).

Valli M. Finney Allen Reynolds So, she took the time to put on her uniform, drive from her park to the other park, and go help?

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney Yes, she is that caring. I actually worked along side both of them yesterday so yes I am aware of this.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney Because I was at the beach area calming people that were freaking out over a water snake. It's a big park and we don't have the time to have everyone stop to pose. They didn't even plan the picture, it was just taken as they were getting down from the mountain.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney If you want to find out more of how things work at the parks, we would gladly accept you volunteering also. Every little bit helps.

Valli M. Finney Allen Reynolds So, you didn't work alongside them as you stated. You were in a different area of the park. Got it.

Valli M. Finney Allen Reynolds Oh, I know quite well how the parks work.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney If your goal is to simply insult the men and women of the parks and others who serve the country then I should not waste my time. I was simply hoping you would understand this situation but I know now that you are just trying to personally insult me just for correcting you. I worked alongside them plenty and it shows how little you know about the parks that you assume we don't do more things after a rescue.

Valli M. Finney Allen Reynolds I do know the park system.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney Did you really send a complaint about a volunteer? What are you hoping to gain from that?

Valli M. Finney Allen Reynolds Attention to detail is necessary. Look at the date.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney Ok? And what was the issue in 2016? That only makes me wonder more on what it had to do with any of this.
at 14:32:28 on 5/17/2020 UTC

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney And i still don't understand what you hope to gain from any of this. We have already established that there are no issues with the post, but is the issue that you still don't understand or do you refuse to understand? Please I'm really not here to argue.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney If you simply don't agree with the post or volunteering then I should probably just take my leave.

Valli M. Finney Allen Reynolds Get the Frontline rangers the pay they DESERVE and are required by law to get! And yes, there are still issues. If you want to work for free when it's required you get paid, then so be it. But Paul was put on notice years ago about the "volunteer " hours and had it corrected at least at one park. You may want to check with a labor law attorney. I think you will find that SCPRT may have been breaking the laws for years and, if the rangers would stand together, they could get OT pay for two years back. Had the female ranger been hurt, based upon what you and the PIO wrote, she would not have gotten any worker's comp. You do realize that, right? Talk to a labor law attorney. See who's correct.

Allen Reynolds Valli M. Finney Hey I'm all for fair pay and all that, but this is not the way to do it. I've done what i could to help but I'll take my leave now.

Ed Kinsel Allen Reynolds hey Allen, this woman is a big giant pain in the ass. She can't stand that people actually care about their fellow man and would do something out of the goodness of their heart. I bet she is a ball at parties.
