|
From:	StateScoop <news=statescoop.com@mail3.atl11.rsgsv.net> on behalf of StateScoop <news@statescoop.com>
Sent:	Thursday, June 16, 2016 11:03 AM
To:	Haley, Nikki
Subject:	Former presidential hopeful Martin O'Malley talks data. Police experts push prep for FirstNet. Austin uses sensors, data sharing to ease traffic woes.

Thursday, June 16, 2016

O'Malley lays out MetroLab goals, charges leaders to encourage tech officials

In an exclusive interview with StateScoop, the former presidential candidate talks about how his time as mayor of Baltimore informs his vision of using data in city government.

GET THE FULL SCOOP >>
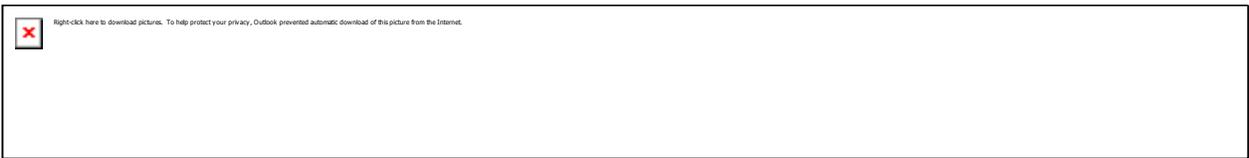

Police experts: The time is now to prepare for FirstNet

Police leaders from around the country believe departments need to think about

Austin uses data sharing, connected sensors to ease traffic congestion

how they can use the new broadband network.
Read More >>

The capital of Texas is employing some cutting-edge IT strategies to cut commute times as more people move to the city.
Read More >>

Virgin Islands aims to create a 'paperless' government

With a small staff, Virgin Islands CIO Reuben Molloy tells StateScoop TV he's often faced with doing more with less.
Read More >>

July 19, 2016 Smart Integration for Faster Innovation
Online Webinar
Presented by StateScoop

REGISTER

View Details +
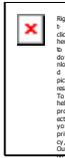

StateScoop is a State & Local government IT media company, a one stop news source and the government IT community's platform for education and collaboration

StateScoop - 1150 18th St. NW Suite 850, Washington, DC 20036