Subject: RE: emergency order

---

My draft background:

Today, Governor Haley issued Executive Order 2015-24, declaring a State of Emergency for the counties that have been declared disaster areas by a Presidential Major Disaster Declaration due to the recent and ongoing effects of the flood. To date, 20 counties have been declared Major Disaster areas, and it is anticipated that additional counties will be added. The Order allows the Governor to continue response and recovery operations under the South Carolina and Emergency Operations Plan, including the utilization of the South Carolina National Guard.

Swati or Becca,

In anticipation of press follow up, will y'all please send us over the governor's emergency order? Will y'all – or whoever the appropriate person is – please send over short background information for us to know?

Rob
