South Carolina State Parks

at 19:59:39 on 10/05/2009 UTC

Wildlife abounds in our SC State Parks. Black bear are sometimes spotted in our Upstate Parks. Check out the photo of these black bear tracks taken at Oconee State Park. To get an idea of the size, look at the park ranger handprint for a reference. What's the neatest or most unusual animal you've seen in a SC State Park?

John Turiak Yikes!

JoEllen Ferguson Oslager The racoons at Edisto. They sometimes climb a tree where you are sitting and go out on the limbs and look down at you. They will also open ice chest and take food out and eat it.

And then the sea trutles at Hunting Island are amazing.

Elysa Davis Allison A skunk waddled into our campsite at Table Rock and munched on some Doritos that the kids had spilled on the ground. So cute, but we kept our distance! LOL

Sue Ann Tarkenton Thanks to all your wonderful posts lately, we went to Oconee this weekend. We even hike to Oconee Station Falls. It was so beautiful and such an enjoyable walk. We didn't even know that those falls were there. Thank goodness, we didn't see any bears. We did see horse tracks and deer tracks (we think).

James Berry We had a beer walk through our campsite while we slept on the Chattooga river trail. Thank goodness he or she didn't want to bother us.
