Voters in deeply Roman Catholic Ireland by a 2-to-1 margin support to repeal a 1983 constitutional ban on abortions, the official vote tally shows.

Official results of Friday's referendum showed that among 2.1 million votes cast, 1.4 million were in favor of repealing the Eighth Amendment to Ireland's Constitution that says a mother and unborn child have an equal right to life.?

About 723,000 voters wanted to retain the ban.

Irish Prime Minister Leo Varadkar, a medical doctor who campaigned for ending the decades-old ban, hailed the result as a "quiet revolution."

CLL Note : Leo Varadkar is Ireland's first [open sodomite Prime Minister - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Leo_Varadkar.]

"The people have spoken," Varadkar said. "The people have said that we want a modern Constitution for a modern country, that we trust women and we respect them to make the right decision and the right choices about their health care."

"A quiet revolution has taken place," he tweeted, "A great act of democracy."

One person involved in the campaign to overturn the ban called the results "momentous."

"The polls suggest all generations voted with us, " Catherine Conlon, a social policy professor at Trinity College in Dublin, told ABC News on Saturday, after exit polls showed overwhelming support for repeal.

"I'm so heartened to know so many of my fellow citizens reflected on this debate and came to trust women," Conlon added.

"Thank you to every single 'yes' voter that walked into a polling station yesterday. You have changed Ireland for my daughters and son."

Seeking or providing an abortion in Ireland is currently a criminal offense that carries up to 14 years behind bars. As a result, thousands of Irish women make the trip abroad, often to England, to have an abortion.

More than 170,000 women traveled from Ireland to access abortion services another country between 1980 and 2016, according to the Irish Family Planning Association.

Repealing the amendment means that abortion could be regulated as it is in both the United States and the United Kingdom, clearing the way for Ireland's government to implement more liberal abortion laws. Lawmakers are now expected to debate proposed legislation allowing abortions within the first 12 weeks of pregnancy, and after that in cases of fetal abnormalities or serious risks to the mother's health.

The heated, emotional campaign saw limits placed on social media advertisements nationwide, with Facebook and Google banning campaign ads after concerns from experts that some campaign ads were funded by U.S. based anti-abortion groups.

Christians for Life and Liberty Comments:

Largely Roman Catholic Ireland (78 per cent Roman Catholic; 4 per cent Protestant - Republic of Ireland

- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Republic_of_Ireland) has further cast off moral restraint and voted to repeal their 8th Amendment to Irish Constitution, which said the mother and her unborn child have an "equal right to life", and adopted new language for their increasingly wicked Irish Constitution (amended in 2015 for sodomite and lesbian "marriage" [sic]), to allow "regulation" of child-murder by "abortion" (similar to the Unbiblical practice of "regulating" child-murder by "abortion" in the United States, which like Roman Catholic Ireland, is also in rebellion against God, and has already been suffering multiple forms of horrific, bloody consequences for years

(including repeated mass shootings for at least the last 19 years - Columbine) -

Hosea 4:2,6; Ezekiel 35:5,6;

Numbers 35:33, kjv)

Ireland will, as the United States has, and is doing still, REAP WHAT THEY SOW. GOD IS NOT MOCKED.

Galatians 6:7, kjv

Clearly, neither rebellious nation, neither the FORMERLY Protestant-majority / increasingly Romanized,

United States of America, nor the largely Roman Catholic, Republic of Ireland properly esteem the moral law of God

(e.g., Exodus 20:13, Matthew 19:18, kjv) in the Bible (which is the Word of God, and the supreme, final authority, which it in Truth and Reality is).

Repent Ireland ! Repent America !
