2015 Health Center and Public Housing National Symposium

It is my pleasure to invite you on behalf of the National Center for Health in Public Housing to the 2015 Health Center and Public Housing National Symposium. We provide training and technical assistance to health center program executives and clinicians across the nation. One form of training and technical assistance we provide is symposiums. The 2015 Health Center and Public Housing National Symposium is a terrific opportunity for all those who work in or with health centers to connect. We cordially invite you to join us September 28th- 30th at the Westin Hotel in Alexandria, VA for our symposium.

This year's symposium theme is "Healthy Together: Community Collaborations in Healthcare Delivery". The annual symposium provides an opportunity for health centers, public housing residents, housing authorities, and advocates to exchange ideas and information on health topics related to improving the lives of millions of public housing residents and low-income individuals. The symposium consists of plenary sessions, workshops, and plenty of networking opportunities to meet new partners. During this two and half day event, attendees will examine aspects of federal grant compliance, clinic management, service delivery, and program planning critical to the foundation and long-term sustainability of health centers. Federal, state, and local agencies, non-profit organizations and healthcare decision makers will speak about vital planning for the future of health centers in America.

Please join us as we highlight the important contributions health center programs have made in communities. There is a fee associated with the symposium. You can learn more about the symposium or register by clicking this link:
