I have endo. I am one of the 1 in 10 women that suffer. I am your daughter, your sister, your niece or friend. We NEED a cure!

A truly awful condition that affects all aspects of daily living! I have been crippled in pain by this and are coping by taking the strongest pain relief available until my next big op. It's not just the general public that need to understand the condition but many health professionals don't understand it which has led to pointless operations for me and resulting in a serious operation once again. I doubt there will ever be a cure but if it was more understood it would be more bearable!! X womek with endometriosis have suffering in silence for too long. A cure needs to be found now, and people need to recognize that this is a real, debilitating disease and not "part of womanhood."

To spread awareness for endometriosis and hopefully get one step closer to finding a cure that women can afford
