Dear Anthony,

Fred and Liz were having trouble making ends meet.

Fred's health was declining, and his medical costs were rising. Plus their utilities bills were $500 a month.

Then the couple visited Washington County Disability, Aging & Veteran Services in Hillsboro, OR, a Benefits Enrollment Center funded by NCOA.

A screening found that Fred and Liz were eligible for programs to help pay their health costs, plus the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program to help pay for food. The result was $232 a month more in their pocketbooks.

But that didn't solve the high utility costs. So staff and local partners found the couple a new home. Then they packed, moved, and unpacked their new apartment. Their expenses dropped by $449 a month.

In 2016, NCOA helped 684,000 people like Fred and Liz find over $1.66 billion in benefits. But we're worried about 2017 and beyond.

Funding for this work comes from Medicare and Medicaid—two programs that face serious threats come January.
