What is the hardest thing about being a caregiver and the most rewarding thing?

The hardest thing is at times
helplessly standing beside him when there is nothing I can do. The most rewarding thing is to FINALLY FIND OUT THAT HE IS CANCER-FREE
as far as we know now!!!! He goes back to CTCA in Newnan, GA at the end of July, 2016.

Janice Tindle

Has your relationship changed with the loved one that you are caring for? If so how?

Yes. It's been a real challenge and adjustments, sacrifices and concessions have had to be made when a parent moves in with an adult child and her spouse. We've become a team. That means we will disagree, need private time, explain and apologize often.

Bobbi Carducci

What advice would you give to other caregivers?

Be kind to yourself. You are human and you will question your ability many times. The creative problem solving we all do means there will be times when what we try will not work. It doesn't mean you have failed, it means that idea didn't work.
