

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20201008South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10158799886588166

South Carolina State Parks

at 12:52:21 on 10/08/2020 UTC · 🌐

The Atalaya Festival continues! After many years in the business world, Dolores Fawkes started her career as an artist, with no formal training. Her designs are inspired by the shapes and textures she sees everyday. She loves working with her hands and creating beautiful pieces of jewelry, utilizing different metals and stones that compliment each other. Learn more about Dolores and shop her jewelry, here: <https://southcarolinaparks.com/atalaya-festival/dolores-fawkes>

Valerie Buttler Nice work.

at 13:18:45 on 10/08/2020 UTC

Jennifer Quick Howard These posts are extremely helpful. Paging through the website with no real focus is kind of hard.

at 13:20:35 on 10/08/2020 UTC

South Carolina State Parks Jennifer Quick Howard thanks. The artists are listed by category on the website. www.AtalayaFestival.com

at 15:07:38 on 10/08/2020 UTC

Joanna Jackson I would love to come to this event, it looks truly wonderful!
at 18:37:57 on 10/09/2020 UTC

Dawn Watson Weaver So, the virtual event has been fun! While I don't wear much jewelry as a ranger, some of my favorite jewelry has come from the Atalaya Arts and Crafts Festival. I am really enjoying seeing the different artists at a time when I simply can't get there!
at 19:47:43 on 10/15/2020 UTC