Approved quote below:

"From kayaking through the Congaree National Park to touring the historic Statehouse to the enjoying its restaurants, shops and businesses, there is no shortage of ways for people of all ages and from all backgrounds to enjoy themselves in Columbia. Our family is proud to call the Midlands home, and we look forward to your family's visit."

Hi, Brian, Chaney and Zach, this requires a quick turn-around if you have time today. SCPRT, along with its tourism industry partners, will purchase a special section in the February edition of Southern Living Magazine to celebrate its 50th anniversary, and the Columbia CVB purchased the opening page. They'd like to feature a quote from Governor Haley on their page, and have crafted the one below. Please review when you get a moment today? And let us know if it's OK for them to use.

Barbeque, sweet tea and genuine hospitality – these are just a few of the things I love about South Carolina. The Palmetto State is filled with unexpected gems waiting to be discovered. Our state capital, Columbia, is no exception. There is something special about this city situated in the heart of our state, something unmistakably Southern. Kayaking through the Congaree National Park, shopping along Devine Street and farm to table dining are some of my favorite ways to enjoy Columbia. I'm proud to call this area home. The invitation to visit is always open.

I'd love to have a response by close-of-business.

Thank you so much for everything!!
