

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Message threads

Record ID: 20210727unknownMessage-threads52748_t_10159500859938166

It is a true story. All hatchlings must be released as required by state and federal permits regardless of deformities or injuries. We let nature take its course as it should, and we strongly limit our interference with them.

Participants: Wandamiguel Angulo, South Carolina State Parks
at 15:00:30 on 7/27/2021 UTC

Wandamiguel Angulo

at 14:57:46 on 7/26/2021 UTC

Just worries me to see where a few two headed turtles have been released to defend for themselves should they have been released so soon or is the story true

South Carolina State Parks

at 14:57:47 on 7/26/2021 UTC

Thanks for messaging us. We will get back to you as soon as possible. In the meantime, make sure to visit our website at www.SouthCarolinaParks.com for up-to-date information.

South Carolina State Parks

at 15:00:30 on 7/27/2021 UTC

It is a true story. All hatchlings must be released as required by state and federal permits regardless of deformities or injuries. We let nature take its course as it should, and we strongly limit our interference with them.
