WASHINGTON (AP) — Wednesday was supposed to be the day Donald Trump clarified his immigration stance. In his speech on that subject, he misstated facts about immigration policy, life for those in the country illegally and their impact on the U.S. economy.

Poll: More voters trust Clinton on health care

WASHINGTON (AP) — From Medicare to medical costs, more voters trust Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton to do a better job on health care issues facing the nation, according to a poll out Thursday. But they're not holding her responsible for improvements. The survey from the nonpartisan Kaiser Family Foundation also found that the future of Medicare access and affordability are the top health care issues for voters.
