Make Your Mark: Leadership Development You'll Be Known For

Hi Tony,

Effective development of your future leaders is vital in enabling your top talent to reach their full potential. However, 95% of high-potential programs fail to drive learning follow-through and application.

In order to have the greatest impact on performance, successful HIPO development programs not only consider what HIPOs learn, but also how they learn. Transitioning to on-the-job learning can achieve 3x the impact on performance for a fraction of the cost.

Be responsible for development that drives your future leaders to fulfil their potential – read these 5 tips on how to develop your future leaders for success.
