See what you think; if okay with, the charter can be sent in final form. I started to add marketing - this isn't our expertise but really the marketing analysis will have to be done behind this also to make this a complete package. Do you all think that should be added to the statement I added of 'Current and future opportunities must include short-term and long-term revenue forecasts, related short-term and long-term costs, and fee structure basis'?

Also, we don't know if the committee name matters really, we recall it being called in the meeting finance committee but know we have one already. It's more than a 'business opportunities' though, but regardless the charter will drive the work. So whatever you two think it should be called, is I think fine with us.

Thanks!
