Focusing on population health management

How collaboration can enhance care and reduce costs

The Governing Institute recently concluded a survey with state and local public health officials to determine their list of priorities and challenges in improving the health of the population they determined is in most need.

This issue brief provides a summary of the survey results and illustrates the benefits gained by the alignment of clinical priorities and social detriments improvement efforts.

how standards-based video:

- Reduces wait times and re-hospitalizations
- Delivers telemedicine expertise for specialty services, reducing costs
- Creates partnerships with schools to rapidly and proactively evaluate student needs and progress.
- Supports parents via face to face meetings with their children's school counselors and health workers
- Provides quality healthcare for citizens confined to prisons, jails and juvenile detention facilities
