Look what was spotted from the Myrtle Beach pier recently -- a leatherback sea turtle -- the largest sea turtle in the world. We may see 1-3 nests per year from the leatherback in SC and they aren't very often seen close to shore. Cool stuff!

Johnny Butler Jr Cool

Joel Fettermann My kids and I were watching the fishing on the pier as this guy swam by. He was no more than 30 yards off the end of the pier. HUGE!!! At least 7 feet long I'd say. Best day ever for a pair of 4&6 yr olds...

Liesbeth van Zadelhoff Amazing (of wel ongelooflijk) zelf gemaakt (foto) ????

at 13:57:55 on 5/15/2013 UTC

Cami Caudle Blaylock Have you seen it anymore?

at 1:15:45 on 5/17/2013 UTC

Dinene Hancock This is the same one I saw all afternoon today, Thursday, at Garden City Beach Pier. It was swimming rather close to the beach. It has the same pink spot on its head
