The following parks have reported that they are at capacity and closed to day-use visitors at 4:20pm (5/16/20):

Devils Fork
Keowee-Toxaway
Caesars Head
Table Rock
Little Pee Dee
Landsford Canal
Hamilton Branch

These parks will not reopen until a safe capacity is reached. Many of our parks are back to normal capacity and do close for periods of time on weekends because they are full.

*NOTE: This post will be updated if we receive information. Please know, parks could close or reopen, and we are not aware. Thanks for your understanding & patience.

Kay Blakely Richard Andrew Gilles idk if you sister is a SC park ranger but as a wife of a SC park ranger I can ensure it's NOT laziness. 😊 They're ensuring the safety of their staff so they can keep the parks running. If everyone is sick the park will have to close indefinitely instead of for a few hours. Be a part of the solution not the problem.

Mikaela Carmen Grooms Richard Andrew Gilles also, the SC state park system is mostly self sufficient so they don't get much funds from the state. These are also unprecedented times with the whole pandemic thing. I would much rather sit in my vehicle than spend a lot of time in close contact with crowds Barclay Clarke Richard Andrew Gilles winner of the brother of the year award.....the rangers were probably having a meeting and since they are CONSTANTLY running around controlling the general public (who, by the way, do not read signs or rules or anything that they should do) that they have to meet in their trucks instead of a comfortable building. Try to think of scenarios instead of coming to, in this case, a very wrong conclusion...

at 14:28:36 on 5/16/2020 UTC

Josh Thomas Cindy Long I don't believe they've reached that point yet. I know they were close. However they didn't self buy and self maintain and self spend all these years. Sell the land if people can't use it.

Sabrina Player Leaphart If I have reservations to stay at Edisto State Park (cabin rental) will they turn us away if the beach is at capacity that week?
at 19:49:16 on 5/16/2020 UTC

Melissa Stone Lifsey Several popular state parks close when the parking lots reach capacity. That has nothing to do with the virus.
at 19:50:34 on 5/16/2020 UTC

South Carolina State Parks Sabrina Player Leaphart no. This is only for day use, it has nothing to do with overnight guests.

at 21:40:45 on 5/16/2020 UTC

Bryn Harmer Gwendolyn Woodward those could be campers. I bet the campground is full. Just because cars leave doesn't mean they have space in the day use areas.

Carl Berube Hunting Island closed for about an hour and a half. Every parking space on the park was full. That will happen on many weekends even if the pandemic never happened. It did last summer.
at 22:12:04 on 5/16/2020 UTC

Lois Wood Gwendolyn Woodward Myrtle Beach temporarily stopped and then started admissions numerous times today, based on the number of cars in the day use lots. Today's temporary halts were often no more than 10-15 minutes. It's definitely a good idea on weekends to try and get there before 10am or arrive mid-afternoon, especially on the weekends.

Sugar Cestare Gwendolyn Woodward That happened to my husband and I two weekends ago. We drove from Conway and got turned around at 10:30 am because they were at capacity. Today, we woke up at 8 and had all of our stuff ready and packed. Got there at 9 and we got in. Stayed a good 4 hours and it waa beautiful! The trick is leaving really early in the morning. By the time we left, the Myrtle Beach state park was packed.

Kimmie Kasko Dalton Chestnut Myrtle Beach has ALWAYS had a very long line, out of park and lined up down Hwy 17... during the summer especially! Usually they are already at capacity as soon as the gates open... due to the vehicles lined up waiting to go in... That is nothing new. People line up an hour or so or longer before the park opens... instead of waiting until mid morning. I know this is true because my brother lives in the community directly across from the entrance and when I visit I must arrive before the park opens.
#Gwendolyn Woodward.

Kimmie Kasko Gwendolyn Woodward If you guys expect to get into Myrtle Beach SP you must arrive earlier than 10 am. That is just a fact.
