Subject: How Private Water Operators Are Serving Your Community

View in Browser

The National Association of Water Companies launched Truth from the Tap to serve as a resource for decision makers and communities weighing their drinking water and wastewater options.

Partnering with a professional water management company allows municipalities to leverage the strengths of both government and private enterprise and partnerships can be customized to the unique needs of the community.

LEARN ABOUT THE MANY BENEFITS OF PARTNERING WITH A PROFESSIONAL WATER MANAGEMENT COMPANY, INCLUDING:

- The highest level of water utility management experience and expertise
- Significant operating efficiencies and cost savings
- An environmental compliance record that is stronger than the national average
- Expanded access to financial resources for investment in operations and infrastructure.

Communities have a vested interest in being well educated on their water options. Water treatment and delivery is complex and there is little to no margin for error. Community leaders should have straightforward facts, not spin, when deciding how best to provide reliable water services to their constituents.
